Cold brew extraction creates a smoother, lower acid coffee that works with your body, not against it. Caffeine that performs as hard as you do.

WORDMARK

The rounded, geometric letterforms feel clean and approachable while keeping the overall look athletic and modern. Using the numeral "2" instead of spelling out "second" gives the wordmark a distinct character that sets it apart from other brands.

Concept B

Athletic Track

This idea plays off the graphic language of an athletic track. We can use concentric lines and oval shapes to create a visual hint of the track.

Unique Selling Point

2nd Wind is the only runner-specific organic cold brew that boosts performance and supports recovery without stomach upset.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Lifestyle & Values

Running is their life, and they're always looking for ways to improve. They value clean, natural ingredients over artificial products. They read ingredient labels as carefully as they analyze their recovery status on their wearables.

Buying Behavior

They're drawn to performance benefits, clean ingredients, and authentic runner branding. But they won't tolerate stomach issues or marketing hype. They trust runners over corporations and respond to word-of-mouth and authentic athlete stories.

The Runner Biohacker

Our products should appeal to any runner who cares about performance and what they put in their bodies. But our main audience segment is the runner who is disciplined, health-conscious, and always looking to optimize their training and recovery.

SECONDARY SYMBOL

SECONDARY SYMBOL

The secondary symbol also references a running track. The thin strokes and oval shape reinforce the premium quality of the product. This more detailed symbol can be used as a texture, for example in patterns or overlaid with the wordmark.
