About

I'm a Czech multidisciplinary digital designer who splits the academic year in San Francisco and summers in Prague, drawing creative inspiration from both European and American design cultures. Most of my work sits in branding and UX/UI, though every so often I like to step away from my specialization and just make art.

As a designer, my goal is to empower ethical and environmentally conscious businesses in health, wellness, and sport through thoughtful design - work that should be sustainable, distinctive, intuitive, and carefully considered.
